Sayaboury: dry season rice production increased

(KPL) Over 3,000 ha have been planted with rice including 281 ha of rice field planted with System of Rice Intensification (SRI) methodology this dry season in Sayaboury province, according to an agricultural official.

Rice harvesting by farmers in Sayaboury province

Head of Plantation Division, Agriculture and Forestry Service of Sayaboury province, Mr. Saypheth Chanthalangsy said last Thursday that the province exceeded annual plan of planting rice with normal method by 20 per cent and that of growing rice with SRI methodology by 30 percent.

He said that the province had harvested 200 ha of rice field so far this dry season.

Besides to the rice plantation, over 5,000 ha have been planted with other cash crops this dry season and 86 per cent of the planted crops have been harvested.

The province expects this dry season would have seen a rice output of 200,000 tonnes.
